Environmental Policy

MUEGGE
POWER TO YOUR PROJECTS

In our GROUP CORPORATE RESPONSIBILITY POLICY, we undertake to protect the environment both during manufacturing processes and when our products are in use.

We help to meet future environmental standards and improve environmental performance with our energy-efficient microwave and plasma technology. That is why we see it as our responsibility to develop more innovations to be able to supply the market with environmentally friendly microwave and plasma solutions.

At our manufacturing sites, we actively seek ways to consistently reduce our impact on the environment as we build these products. We pay particular attention to atmospheric emissions, minimising greenhouse gas emissions (e.g. by increasing energy efficiency and utilising renewable energy), joint measures to ensure the responsible use of water and reducing waste.

MUEGGE Group manages these elements by establishing an environmental management system at each of its manufacturing sites with the aim of reducing the impact on the environment or, in the event of an incident, to take appropriate action to minimise its effects.

This encompasses our commitment to:

1. Compliance with all local and national laws and regulations and, for specific elements of environmental management, fulfilling even stricter requirements.
2. Consulting stakeholders on any environmental issues that may affect them.
3. Defining and setting objectives and monitoring and measuring the achievement of these objectives.
4. Reporting on these objectives to both local and global management of MUEGGE Group.
5. The continuous enhancement of our environmental management systems in order to reduce water consumption, minimise our energy usage and associated carbon footprint, decrease our use of resources, minimise waste and prevent pollution.
6. Creating awareness of environmental issues among employees by means of collaborative leadership, effective communication and training.
7. Promoting awareness of environmental issues among our stakeholders, including customers and suppliers, e.g. via our Code of Conduct for Suppliers.
